

Welcome to IUHW

Currently in the health and welfare field, there is an increasing need for “team health care” in which a number of specialists in different areas cooperate to provide care. IUHW is the first comprehensive health and welfare university in Japan to develop human resources for team health care. IUHW provides across-the-board support to enable its students to master their advanced knowledge and skills as specialists. IUHW also, encourages its students to develop a broad perspective not limited to their respective specialized disciplines, and enhance their richness as human beings.
